FRONTEND ENGINEER | SOFTWARE ENGINEER

I'm a passionate frontend developer with extensive experience gained primarily through real-world projects. Specialising in React, TypeScript, Next.js, and Git, I also bring proficiency in Node.js and Python to the table.

I'm dedicated to continuous learning and growth, whether it's mastering NoSQL and SQL databases or implementing CI/CD pipelines and DevOps practices to deploy projects seamlessly on platforms like Vercel.

Let's collaborate and bring your vision to life. Together, we can create something extraordinary.

CERTIFICATIONS

I have quite a good amount of certificates, to check them all please visit my LinkedIn. Usually I post the certificate as soon as I finish it so I can keep track of it. Some of the courses have a proper certification, some don't, but since I had great referrals for those courses I took them anyway and I totally recommend it, in this case, I'm talking about Frontend Masters courses.

I'll still display a few here, the ones that helped me a lot in the beginning and the ones that were more premium.

React -The Complete Guide (incl Hooks, React Router and Redux)   3/2020 - 2/2021

Udemy.com   Online

React, Redux, React Hooks, React Router, Git, GitHub Pages

- In this course the main project that I developed was a Burger Builder, I started by using just React, and then while the course continued I implemented Redux and at the end I changed Redux to React Hooks. I also used MongoDB for the database. I hosted it on GitHub Pages.

Nuxt.js - Vue.js on Steroids   8/2020 - 8/2020

Udemy.com   Online

Vue, Vuex, Nuxt.js, Git, Firebase

- I learned about Nuxt.js and its structure. I built a blog with an admin area to create the posts. To store the date I used Firebase.

Vue JS 2 - The Complete Guide (Vue Router and Vuex)   8/2020 - 8/2020

Udemy.com   Online

Vue, Vuex, Vue Router, Git, AWS

- In this course I will build three projects. A "monster slaying" project, where I can attack a monster, heal myself and use special attacks, a quotes project and the final big project is a stock trader project.

The Web Developer Bootcamp   10/2017 - 12/2017

Udemy.com   Online

JavaScript, EJS, Node, Bootstrap, MongoDB, Git, Heroku

- In this course I developed a website to show campgrounds. The user can create an account, new campgrounds and comment on the created campground. I used Node.js on the back-end and EJS with Bootstrap on the front-end. I also used MongoDB for the database to store the users and campgrounds.
